

Alex Doe. Backend developer with six years across distributed systems for payments and internal tooling. Worked mostly with Python and some Go, plus a good deal of on-call rotation and infra debugging over the years, including a memorable weekend fixing a stuck payments queue. Previously did a two year contract doing Django work for a small logistics company before that. Studied computer science at a state university, graduated in twenty nineteen. Comfortable in English and Spanish. Reachable at alex dot doe at example dot com.